

I think you should have a call list, rather than a no-call list. Assume no one wants these calls, and those who welcome them can sign up to be called.